Sudin bats for son in Madkai constituency

These committees are the appropriate forums for alliance decisions, the minister said.

He also informed that the MGP will not give candidature to those having history of defection, and had changed political parties.

While remarking about the MGP, Gaude recently said, “Do they support us even after forming an alliance? They don’t support. The BJP should think about it. I feel that it will be difficult in future with them. If we still want to live on crutches of the MGP then what is the use of having such huge membership? They had said the alliance will help win the South Goa seat. Did we win?”

‘Mangrove extracts show cancer-fighting potential’

A non-cancerous human keratinocyte cell line, HaCaT, was also tested to determine whether the extracts showed selectivity towards cancer cells. The researchers conducted experiments in triplicate and used statistical analysis including one-way ANOVA and Tukey’s multiple-comparison test.

The strongest results came from Bruguiera cylindrica. Its extract recorded IC50 values of 323.965±1.417 micrograms/ml against A549 cells, 287.062±1.127 micrograms/ml against AWC13516 cells and just 25.942±2.048 micrograms/ml against HeLa cells with the researchers noting it exhibited “the best therapeutic index (high toxicity towards cancer cells and low toxicity towards normal cells).” The researchers also found no cytotoxicity against the normal HaCaT cells at the tested concentrations.

The selectivity index of B. cylindrica against HeLa cells was 62.03, substantially higher than those of the other species indicating strong preference for attacking cancer cells while sparing healthy ones. The team described the species as a “promising candidate for exploring mangrove-derived bioactive compounds” for further investigation.

A separate scratch-wound healing assay examined whether the extracts could inhibit cancer-cell migration.

After 24 hours, untreated A549 cells showed 86.54 per cent migration, while treated cells showed markedly reduced movement, indicating anti-migratory activity.

Chemical profiling using Orbitrap-LC-HRMS identified 107 metabolites, including chlorogenic acid, caffeic acid, rutin, quercetin, naringenin, kaempferol, nobiletin and luteolin — compounds with well-documented roles in triggering apoptosis, disrupting cell migration and modulating oncogenic signalling pathways. The researchers linked the chemical diversity to the harsh conditions in which mangroves grow, noting that salinity, ultraviolet exposure, tidal fluctuations and oxygen-poor soils can drive production of secondary metabolites such as phenolics, flavonoids, terpenoids and alkaloids.

The study observed that mangrove-derived phytochemicals could provide leads for future oncological drug development, but their mechanisms, safety, bioavailability and clinical effectiveness will require substantial further investigation.

Jharkhand exam stir: ABVP to hold nationwide protests

There was heavy police deployment and barricading at key points, including roads leading towards the Chief Minister’s residence, amid fears of further protests and attempts to march on government establishments.

Das, addressing the protesters at the stadium, gave the state government a week to recommend a CBI probe into alleged irregularities in recruitment examinations. “If the state government fails to recommend a CBI probe within a week, I will be forced to sit on a hunger strike here,” he said.

The BJP leader accused the JMM-led government of “playing with the fate” of lakhs of students and alleged that major recruitment scams had taken place in Jharkhand over the past six years. Das also demanded Rs 1 crore compensation each for the next of kin of 19 people who died during physical tests for excise constable recruitment in 2024.

More than 15 aspirants died during the physical tests, an issue the BJP has repeatedly used to target the Soren government.

The ABVP announced a nationwide agitation, saying it would organise demonstrations at more than 1,200 universities and in every district across the country.

Analogue paneer...

“The department has not received specific directions from the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India (FSSAI) mandating such a prohibition,” she said.

Dessai spoke in the presence of Directorate of Fire & Emergency Services, division officer (north zone), Shripad Gawas and Elanpro director Sanjay Jain.

Elanpro Saksham, a seminar on the operational challenges of food businesses in the state, will be held on August 14 at the SP Mukherjee Stadium, Bambolim.

The day-long seminar will bring together government departments such as the DF&ES, FDA, hoteliers, chefs, restaurant owners, etc to discuss the hospitality perspective on fire safety, food hygiene, cold-chain management, energy efficiency and kitchen infrastructure.

Controversial FCRA bill sent to JPC amid protests by Opposition

“This legislation is clearly for targeting the NGOs and minority institutions which are doing good work,” Congress MP KC Venugopal said.

“On the one side, the RSS is getting complete donations from foreign countries, while on the other side, the government is trying to target minorities and NGOs. The government should withdraw this bill. We demand the withdrawal of this bill,” Venugopal said.

Rijiju, who is also the Union Minister of Minority Affairs, rejected the allegations and said the Opposition can raise their reservations before the joint committee.

“If they have any reservations about the bill, they can speak in the JPC. This is not targeted at any minority community,” he said.

The minister said the Congress and other Opposition parties had themselves demanded that the bill be referred to a House committee for detailed scrutiny.

Later, responding to Samajwadi Party MP Akhilesh Yadav’s assertion that the bill was against minorities, Rijiju challenged Yadav to point out any provision in the proposed legislation that was against minorities and said he was making the claim with “responsibility.”

He asserted that the government would ensure that no provision in the bill was against any minority community. “This is for the well-being and the security of every community of India,” Rijiju said.

BJP MP Jagdambika Pal, who was in the Chair, said the government had agreed to the demand of referring the legislation to a joint parliamentary committee and there would be a “threadbare discussion” on it.

Akhilesh Yadav said the entire Opposition was against the Bill and took a dig at Shah for not being present in the House.

Referring to Rijiju’s assertion that the proposed legislation was not against minorities, Yadav said, “He should clarify which bill they brought till date was not against minorities.”

DMK MP TR Baalu also demanded that the Bill be withdrawn.

Tata Sons chairman N Chandra to step down

“I am grateful for the immensely satisfying opportunity to contribute to this venerable institution,” Chandrasekaran, widely known as Chandra, said in a statement.

Tata Sons is the principal investment holding company and promoter of the Tata Group, controlling more than 30 companies, including Tata Consultancy Services, Tata Motors and Air India. Tata Trusts collectively own about 66 per cent of Tata Sons, giving the philanthropic arm decisive influence over the group’s governance.

Chandra said the Sir Dorabji Tata Trust and Sir Ratan Tata Trust, which together hold 51.54 per cent of Tata Sons, had unanimously recommended extending his term by five years. The recommendation was recorded and backed by the Tata Sons Nomination and Remuneration Committee and board before being put to directors on February 24.

“However, the proposal was not carried through because one of the Board Members did not support it, and in the absence of unanimous support, I chose to defer the decision,” he said. “It has been 6 months since that Board meeting, and no resolution has been reached till date.”

While he did not name the board member, Noel Tata, who took over as chairman of Tata Trusts in 2024 following the death of Ratan Tata, had wanted certain assurances from Chandra before giving him another term.

Mull framing policy on illegal demolitions: SC to states

The counsel said authorities sometimes assure residents that unauthorised structures would be regularised, while simultaneously collecting municipal and property taxes and permitting access to civic amenities such as electricity.

After 40-50 years, residents may be told that their structures are illegal and face demolition without any assessment of whether alternative accommodation is available.

The plea urged the bench to examine the issue from a human-rights perspective, particularly in cases involving families who have remained in possession of properties or colonies for decades.

The CJJ pointed out that the Supreme Court had already laid down comprehensive safeguards against illegal and unauthorised demolitions.

The counsel said that the existing judicial directions were inconsistent.

He referred to an earlier three-judge bench ruling recognising the right to shelter as part of the right to live with human dignity, while citing a July 14 judgment holding that the long-standing existence of a colony by itself does not create a legal right and that mere passage of time or administrative inaction does not cure an illegality.

The bench said a court-appointed committee could not substitute the powers vested in state governments and municipalities to enforce the law.

It also reiterated that the Supreme Court had already issued safeguards aimed at preventing sudden and arbitrary demolitions.

“This court’s humanist jurisprudence, beginning with Olga Tellis, recognises that a person in settled possession cannot be dispossessed without due process. This court has also directed that even a rank unauthorised occupant must ordinarily be given at least 15 days’ notice before demolition,” the CJJ said.

Justice Bagchi said the issues raised in the plea would have to be assessed on a case-by-case basis and could not necessarily be resolved through a single policy framed by the court.

Justice Bagchi said the prayers in the petition were framed too broadly and could result in the court entering the executive’s policy domain.
